DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-52, as interpreted by the examiner are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Thomas et al. in US Patent number 6,173,272 (Thomas).

Thomas teaches trusted third party data structure for electronic funds transfer and bill presentment. In particular, Thomas teaches receiving a request to make a payment on behalf of a payer to a payee, transmitting a request to find network payee is on, receiving information about network payee belongs too and transmitting payment information (column 4; lines 35-55). The trusted third party (TTP, in this situation examiner interprets the TTP to be an inter-network directory provider) uses a unique identifier that identifies the payee when given at least payee's name and address and associates all information about the payee (column 8; lines 47-49 and 56-57). Once association is made the TTP identifies if the transaction will be accepted or not and facilitates the transaction by providing remittance advice. The unique identifier is saved in a database of the TTP and can be used to make other payments to the payee on behalf of the original payer or alternative payers. One of the key objectives of a TTP protocol is to provide secured communications for both payer and payee (column 3; line 65 – column 4; line 5).

Thomas further teaches TTP software available over a network or provided locally. The TTP database houses appropriate deposit and supported transaction types for each of the payees and payers. Also the payment/electronic fund transfer message is sent as a second message set, separate from the original association message or remittance advice.

Thomas does not specifically teach that the payee and the payer are on different payment networks. However Thomas does clearly teach a system to connect any and all payees with any and all payers. Therefore It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize the TTP system of Thomas to facilitate electronic fund transfers between payers and payees on different payment networks to provide the most comprehensive coverage possible.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Órnum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1, 5-10, 27, & 31-36 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 53-72 of copending Application No. 09/984,568. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims recite the same method. The same system and method is used in both applications with only the intended usage distinguishing them. As such, the intended use of the product does not make the inventions patentably distinct.

Art Unit: 3627

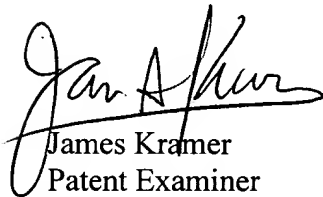

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
